

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention pertains to a switchmode power inverter, and particularly to a half-bridge inverter for asymmetrical load. More particularly, the invention pertains to high frequency electronic ballast for gas discharge devices, especially for high intensity discharge lamps, completed by an internal high voltage ignition circuit and transient current control protecting against the asymmetrical feature of high intensity discharge lamps at startup.